Exploratory (post hoc)
val-A val-B test
selected on validation
(a) Laya-Fin
(b) d1-ultra
E1 the news item
earnings day (seen)
quantified†
press wire†
imprecise timestamp† E2 d1-ultra's reading of the news new, not known
numbers, not narrative
scheduled company-specific confirmed impact horizon above median uncertainty below median mixed signals below median materiality above median P(no material effect) below median E3 timing
latest article before 08:00 (seen) 04:00 to 08:00, not 08:00 to 09:15
E4 the day
Friday
Monday
busy news day (ratio ≥ 1.5) news count above median earnings count above median FOMC, CPI or payrolls day VIX at t − 1 above median |SPY overnight| above median E5 the stock
size tier 251 to 500
dollar-volume tier 251 to 500
low usual coverage
σ above median direction agrees with z_m20 price-move text
E6 the model's reading conviction top 30% (seen) Laya-Fin's magnitude above median d1-ultra's confidence above median E7 two or more models Laya-Fin and d1-ultra agree three API models agree rank average of the two models E8 the cost hurdle
|V| σ above the hurdle
E9 Laya-Fin on d1-ultra's labels numbers and material −0.5
−0.25
0
0.25
0.5
inside minus outside: mean sign(N̂) z_id (typical daily moves)